THE MESOLA CASTLE

The building of the interesting Mesola Castle was started in 1578 as per will of Duke Alfonso last descendant of the Ferrara Este Dukedom dynasty whose wish was to leave an important sign on the territory of Ferrara by erecting a noble residence so rich as to compete by size and grandeur with the older Castle of Ferrara, absolute symbol of the Este family dominion. Four great towers, embattled walls, large windows, present the Castle as a building which is halfway between a fortress and a luxurious residence or Delizia, protected by nine miles of surrounding walls and hunting woods. According to some historians, this future town was to compete with the power of Venice on the Adriatic sea : an ambitious project which needed a long time and descendants which Alfonso 2nd never had. In 1598 in fact the Papal State regained possess of the Ferrara dukedom and consequently of Mesola itself.

SITE TOURIST

THE ABBEY OF POMPOSA

The Benedictine settlement, which was founded in the 6-7 Centuries A.D. on a wooded island embraced by the river and protected by the sea, after the year 1000 became an important monastic community. Those who stayed there included Guido d'Arezzo, the monk who invented musical notation. To the side of the Byzantine-Ravenna style church, stands a tall bell tower built in 1063, while the inside shows a 14 Century cycle of frescoes of the Giotto school, and a wonderful mosaic floor

GORO (Ferrara)

The Po River and its branches form a picturesque natural network of roads to plow slowly aboard motor boats or small boats that detect the intimate beauty of its landscape. It starts from Goro and Gorino with their fishing ports on the Sacca di Goro, famous for the breeding of clams and mussels. One of the most evocative of navigation is the island of Love where stands the solitary Goro Lighthouse, animated by seagull.

TREPPONTI OF COMACCHIO

The elegant and unique Trepponti, with its imposing staircase, was designed in 1630 as a monumental sea port city of Comacchio.
